

COUNTY HOME PLAN HEARING SET FOR JAN. 4

The Adams County court has set January 4 at 10 a.m. as the time for a hearing on the petition of the Adams County Institution District for approval by the court of the plans and specifications for construction of a new county home.

Filed with the petition to the court for the hearing were four large books containing the requirements for the general contractor, heating, plumbing and electrical contractors and the blue prints for the planned one-story county home to be constructed along the Biglerville Rd. between the jail and the borough line.

The plans show a long driveway leading back from the Biglerville Rd. to the new home with a large parking space for visitors and staff at the north side of the home.

Plans Reviewed
The general architecture calls for the building to be 368 feet long along what is in effect the main building from which extend three wings.

Two of the wings and the main part of the structure form a large cross, with the width of the arm of the cross being 246 feet. A nurses' office is established at the intersection of the cross. Extending off the long end of the cross is another large wing which will contain the kitchen, dining room, staff dining room, laundry, storage rooms, etc.

Chapel Provided
Provision is made for a chapel, for recreation rooms, sitting room at the end of each corridor, a physical therapy room, storage rooms, linen closets, etc. There is provision for 32 bedrooms with two beds each and 14 bedrooms with one bed each. Bath rooms are placed between each two bedrooms.

The court appointed Attorney Walter H. Katherman Jr. as master in the divorce action brought by Norris L. Minter II against Henrietta L. (Filsinger) Minter.

January 4 was set as the date for the appeal of C. E. Davis, Biglerville R. 2, from the finding of Justice of the Peace Perren W. Rebert on a charge of failing to yield one half the highway brought following an accident.

The petition of Roderick Whiles, Annapolis, for a change in the

SUPERVISORS OF COUNTY IN SESSION HERE

Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt is to speak this afternoon at the 42nd annual convention of the Adams County Township Supervisors, Auditors, Assessors and Tax Collectors Association at the court house.

One hundred fifty, the largest morning attendance in history, were present for the opening sessions of the convention this morning.

Warren Roberts, Greene County, past president of the state township officials association, this morning criticized Governor Lawrence for vetoing a bill which would have increased the dues paid by the township supervisors to their state association. The governor vetoed the bill because it placed no ceiling on dues and provided for no audit. Roberts held that the township supervisors' association is the only similar organization which ever has submitted an annual audit of its expenses and income to the governor and held the state township supervisors have been forwarding such audits "for years." He said: "Republican or Democrat, we've got to elect people loyal to the interests of the township people."

Many Speeches Today

Ralph D. Lindsey, president of the state association of township officials, noted "out of 50 states in the Union only 19, including our own, has the type of grass roots government such as ours."

Roger W. Story, director of municipal services for the state, spoke briefly this morning as did Edwin Tompkin, assistant Republican floor leader of the state House of Representatives. Tompkin discussed the general tax situation in the state.

State Senator Douglas Elliot and Assemblyman Francis Worley were other speakers. Rev. Norman L. Bortner gave the invocation and conducted the memorial service for deceased members.

John L. Lewis To Resign Mine Workers' Presidency

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis, a titan of the American labor movement, announced today he will resign as president of the United Mine Workers early next year.

Lewis, who will be 80 next Feb. 12, said a letter to UMW members published today in the union's journal that the time has come to step aside. Aides said he is in excellent health.

"Mister Eyebrows," as millions came to know the fuzzy-browed union chief in his flamboyant organizing and bargaining days of the 1930s and 1940s, has headed the UMW for 40 years. Few men have had greater impact on American economic life.

An addition will be erected to the library. The exact location of this new building has not been definitely decided upon.

BOARD GIVES CONTRACT FOR $10,965 REPAIR WORK AT GHS

The Gettysburg Joint School District's budget, already staggering under the cost of the extensive changes being made at Meade School, was dealt another unexpected $10,000 blow Monday evening at the December session of the joint school board.

The board awarded a contract to the Weishaar Brothers of Gettysburg for a new hot water boiler and storage tank for the high school to replace an "overloaded and overworked" system installed 23 years ago to handle 500 pupils. There are 1,200 pupils there now.

The Weishaar bid was the lowest of four sealed offers opened Monday evening for the installation of the larger, new boiler and larger hot water storage tank. The contract price is $10,965. Other offers ranged above $13,000.

Teachers Elected

As much of the work as possible will be done over Christmas vacation, the board was told. The project has preliminary emergency approval from the state at Harrisburg and final approval will be sought immediately following the awarding of the contract. The action to replace the worn out hot water system for cafeteria and locker room sections of the high school was taken on recommendation of the property committee.

The contract was awarded on a roll call vote of 35 to 1. Superintendent H. Edgar Riegle told the directors the old boiler had sprung a leak several weeks ago and made it necessary to use paper plates in the cafeteria for a day. The leaking boiler was welded with the hope that it would hold until a replacement could be installed. At the direction of the property committee, William K. Hood Associates, York, prepared specifications for the new installation and bids were secured so that action could be taken by the board Monday.

On recommendation of the teacher committee, the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Cynthia Hazen as a teacher in junior high school and elected Jack R. Wise, Highspire, who will graduate from Shippensburg State Teachers' College in January.

Greeks Give President Rousing Ovation; Interrupted Dozen Times By Applause In Address To 300 Members Of Parliament

By JOHN SCALI

ATHENS (AP) — President Eisenhower received a rousing ovation in the Greek Parliament today and then boarded the U. S. cruiser Des Moines for his first real rest since he began his peace and friendship mission 12 days ago.

The President, renewing his call for peace in freedom in an address to the 300-member Parliament, was interrupted a dozen times by applause and cheers that almost shook the rafters. The Communist-led minority joined in.

Rests Aboard Ship

Then five hours later, the President took his leave of the Greek royal family and drove in a procession to the Athens Stadium where he boarded a helicopter for the short flight to the Des Moines.

The President will have a three-day rest aboard the Des Moines, broken only by a meeting Thursday in Tunis with Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba.

Greek Premier Constantine Karamanis and other Greek officials accompanied the President to the stadium.

The President got his greatest ovation when he told Parliament his message in the words "Peace and Friendship in Freedom."

The legislators rose to their feet with a roar of shouts and hand-clapping.

Love Peace, Freedom
Touched, Eisenhower departed from his prepared text to say: "I feel that here I am with men who, like myself and all Americans, love peace and freedom and want to work for it."

The rip-roaring demonstration far exceeded the reception of his message before two other parliaments he had addressed, Indian and Iranian, on the trip that has taken him so far to seven nations.

Eisenhower called on free nations to be strong militarily, economically and above all spiritually until they have won a secure peace in freedom. He stressed the need for freedom in any solid

COLLEGE GRAD INSTALLED AS TEMPLE PREXY

Dr. Millard E. Gladfelter was inaugurated Monday as the fourth president of Temple University, in Philadelphia, succeeding Dr. Robert L. Johnson, now the university's chancellor.

Dr. Gladfelter is a graduate of Gettysburg College in the Class of 1925. In 1942, Gettysburg gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in Education. He is a member of the college's board of trustees.

Dr. Gladfelter accepted his charge at the hands of U.S. District Court Judge George A. Welsh, a vice president of the university, at Baptist Temple, Broad and Berk Sts., in ceremonies which also marked the 75th anniversary of the university.

Pattern For Tomorrow
In his inaugural address, the 59-year-old president outlined for the educational leaders and federal, state and local officials attending the ceremonies, including Gov. David L. Lawrence, what he described as his "pattern for tomorrow."

He called for intelligent planning for the new "giant city" of tomorrow; meeting the doubled demand for higher education facilities and the "frightening loss" of potential leadership through drop-outs from secondary schools and encouragement of the capable student to attend college.

Gov. Lawrence urged expansion of adult education now before college and universities become so burdened with high school graduates in the next decade that the institutions concern themselves only with undergraduates.

Expansion Plans
As population grows in adjoining counties to the north, he said, it is Temple's intention to expand the junior college centers now established in Bucks and Montgomery counties.

"For 75 years," Dr. Gladfelter said, "the purpose of Temple University has needed no restatement, and its present dynamic character suggests that the future will underscore the vision of the founder. Indeed, it could appropriately be called Conwell University."

Bishop Fred P. Corson, of the Methodist Church in the Philadelphia area, chairman of the Temple University board of trustees, presided at the inauguration.

In 1845 Samuel Knox owned a farm which included the present two properties—that of Mrs. Wood and that of Mr. Miller. On January 16, 1845, the property was divided with one son of Samuel Knox receiving what is now the Wood farm and another what is now the Miller farm. The road was in use at that time and was the sole entrance and exit from the farm area now owned by Mrs. Wood, according to the amended complaint.

ROTARIANS HEAR ABOUT TERMITES

The story of termites was outlined for members of the Rotary Club at their meeting Monday evening at the YWCA by Edward Sellman, Hagerstown.

Sellman, who was introduced by Ray Seltzer, of the local club, represents Vogel-Ritt and Termite. He termed termites "one of the oldest living families in all history" and said termites have been found in existence far back in pre-historic times. Termites' original duty was to turn fallen trees into soil "but when man came along and used lumber to build houses the termites didn't know the difference," Sellman said.

"They live in colonies and twice a year selected members of the colonies grow wings and fly. Some people call them flying ants, but you can tell the difference between an ant and a termite. The termites' wings are all about the same size, while an ant grows a pair of long wings and a narrower pair of wings. Termites are poor flyers and when the flying termites get a short distance from the old colony they settle down, pull off their wings, burrow into the ground and start a new colony just looking for some cellulose to eat. If a house is over the top of one of these colonies it is in danger unless treated to stop the termites. Termites are careful not to disturb the outer surface when they eat wood. They need to work

FIRE DESTROYS
TEN TRACTORS

YORK, Pa. (AP) — A farm equipment showroom in Hellam, five miles east of York, was destroyed Monday night by fire of undetermined origin.

Walter E. Fry, the owner, and his son, Eugene, were alone in the brick and frame structure when the fire erupted about 8 p.m. Both fled safely. No one else was reported injured.

The flames leveled the structure except for a small office and destroyed about 10 tractors and a delivery truck.

Fry was too overwrought to fix his loss. Hallam fire chief Charles Backel tentatively estimated damage at $150,000.

Fry's house, separated by an alley from his showroom on Route 30, sustained minor damage from embers and heat.

Three fire companies fought the blaze 1 1/2 hours. Traffic on Route 30, the Lincoln Highway, was detoured for a time.

to fill the vacancy. A substitute fills the position meanwhile. Wise will be paid the regular starting salary of $3,800. His election was unanimous on a roll call vote.

Pay $40,290 In Bills

The name of Mrs. Nancy Blair Murdock, Gettysburg, was added to the list of substitute teachers for the high school on recommendation of the teacher committee.

Business Manager Kenneth G. Reinhardt Jr., suggested to the board that a new contract be written with William K. Hood Associates, York, providing for annual instead of semi-annual inspections of the heating systems of all school buildings with a saving in cost under the present rate. He also suggested that maintenance agreements should be entered into with Minneapolis-Honeywell, and York Shipley. All the suggestions were turned over to the property committee for study and recommendation.

The board approved bills for payment totaling $40,290. They included $24,321 to A. R. Warner for work on Meade School, $4,809 for work at the high school building to conform with state Department of Labor and Industry requirements. The list of bills also included $1,940 to Buchart Associates for architectural services on both projects.

Snowberger To Return

Clifford B. Snowberger, high school principal, will return to his office at the high school Wednesday after a period of hospitalization and rest at home. Superintendent Riegel told the board: "It was a case of too much hard work, too long hours and too much pressure," he said.

The board approved plans to use the girls' gymnasium for an archery range for the recreation program and for school physical education classes. The Recreation Board would share the cost involved with the school district to pay $25 or $30.

The high school Alumni Association was granted use of the high school cafeteria for the annual Christmas dance and Good Samaritan Lodge was given use of the cafeteria for its 100th anniversary banquet April 20.

The treasurer's report from the First National Bank showed a current general fund balance of $20,574 after expenditures of $95,609 and tuition receipts of $64,000 in the last month.

Get Monthly Reports

The cafeteria reports showed: High school, an average of 1,014 pupils' and 30 adults' meals served on 19 days with total receipts of $6,240 and a net loss for the month of $428; Keefeaver, an average of 593 pupils' and 40 adults' meals served with total receipts of $4,069 and a net profit of $527, and Eisenhower School, 412 pupils and 28 adults on the average with a net profit of $491 after expenses of $2,531.

Mr. Rinehart explained that the profits at the two grade school cafeterias is accounted for in part by the fact that the last day of November was a Monday when many pupils pay for the week's lunches.

The Activities fund balance was given at $14,405 and the high school athletic fund balance as $1,632 after month's expenditures of $3,881.

Dinner February 4

After some discussion, the board voted to hold the annual personnel dinner on February 4 with board presidents to form the committee on arrangements. Several directors asked questions about the dinner's cost, suggested that directors pay for their own dinners and asked how dinners in the past have been financed. The decision to continue the practice was reached on a voice vote. There were some "no's" but President Guise ruled the motion carried.

The board opened bids on 50 double and 10 single roller window blinds for Meade School and then referred the bids to the supply committee for study and action to be confirmed at the next joint board meeting. There were bids from the Karns Window Decorating Service, York, and Roberts and Meck, Harrisburg.

Mr. Riegel reports that school custodial personnel will be used to paint sections of Meade School not covered by the Warner firm's contract with an estimated saving of over $900.

Meade Ready In February

The board heard from Gery Orndorff, representative of the Buchart firm, that work on Meade is 80 per cent complete.

Orndorff said the work is progressing well and that work is now expected to be finished in mid February. The board approved an extra $174 for basement masonry work there.

Announcement was made of the meeting of the school directors of the Littlestown, New Oxford and Gettysburg jointures at the high school here on Wednesday evening to discuss proposed merger votes in each of the three present joint districts.

Mr. Riegel asked directors to correct a wrong impression that has gained some circulation to the effect that a merger of the three jointures into one district is being proposed. The plan under consideration, he said, is to hold three merger votes, one in each present joint district. Because all are tied in with interlocking districts now, the joint meeting was decided upon.

The meeting adjourned at 10:45 p.m.

"GO OUT DANCING"

It's fun to go out dancing . . . with someone near and dear . . . for dancing is a certain way . . . to fill the heart with cheer . . . while gliding o'er a slippery floor . . . to some melodic tune . . . even coldest hearts are captured . . . in the spell of June . . . worries seem to fly away . . . with every tender note . . . and when it comes to chasing blues . . . dancing's the antidote . . . there is no better way to spend . . . the weary evening hours . . . than dancing to an orchestra . . . 'neath paper-mache bowers . . . and so I say to everyone . . . who dreams of sweet romancing . . . you'll find a sweet fulfillment . . . if and when you go out dancing.

plause by the 170 members of the government bloc and other members.

Another call by Eisenhower for a dynamic peace, freeing the world of "the intolerable burden of armaments," went over big. Th Reds, however, showed far less enthusiasm when Eisenhower urged the free nations to keep their defenses strong until the Soviets agree to a trustworthy peace.

The speech to Parliament, whose building on Constitution Square once was a palace of Greek kings, was the highlight of another busy day in Eisenhower's swing to India and back. Thousands of Greeks filled the square to cheer him.

Confers With Premier

After addressing Parliament, Eisenhower plunged into a discussion of international problems with Premier Constantine Karamanlis.

The President and the Premier issued a communique declaring world peace must be consolidated "in such a way as to guarantee the independence of all nations and the freedom of the individual."

They reviewed moves to reduce world tensions, but also reaffirmed their steadfast support of objectives of the 15-nation Atlantic Pact as well as the United Nations.

Eisenhower pledged anew the interest of the American people in Greece's economic development and security. Karamanlis expressed appreciation for Eisenhower's "great endeavor for peace."

Position In Balkans

The talks also covered what the communique called "Greece's special position in the Balkans and the general situation in this area, as well as in the eastern Mediterranean."

Answering questions, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower had asked him to say that the United States and the Greek government "see eye to eye on all Greek problems."

Eisenhower, he added, asked him to make clear that U. S. aid to Greece will be continued "in all forms."

There was no reference in the communique to intermediate-range ballistic missile bases in Greece.

matically by Thomas Kennedy, UMW vice president and former lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania. Kennedy, 72, a widower who married again just a few weeks ago, is honeymooning in Europe.

On retirement, Lewis will be eligible to continue at full salary of $50,000 a year. He did not set a specific date for quitting, saying only it would be shortly after the new year.

Lewis, a familiar figure for years in newspaper headlines, is responsible more than any other labor leader for organizing workers of the nation's biggest industries into labor unions.

Formed The CIO

With the country on its economic knees in the great depression, Lewis capitalized on the National Recovery Act and the Wagner Labor Relations Act passed during former President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

This established the rights of unions to organize and obligation of employers to bargain with them on wages and working conditions. Lewis formed the CIO and drew millions of workers into union membership.

A man of iron will, Lewis fought the captains of industry and on many occasions the government itself in unrelenting battle to obtain bargaining rights and wage-benefit gains for workers in one industry after another.

Peaceful In Recent Years
In the past decade, although still vigorous and willing to fight if need be, Lewis conducted his union affairs in peace with the politicians and his old and favorite foes, the coal mine operators.

In his letter today to UMW members, Lewis displayed again his lifelong flair for rolling, sonorous language.

"The years have been long and individual burdens oppressive," he wrote. "Yet progress has been great."

"Today, because of your fortitude and deep loyalty to your union, your wages are the highest in the land, your working hours the lowest, your safety more assured, your health more guarded, your old age protected, your children equal in opportunity with their generation, and your union strong, with material resources."

Famous Old Deer At Glen Furney
No deer in all this section is half so famous as the big black buck—"Long John" he is sometimes called—that inhabits the mountains in the vicinity of Glen Furney and makes frequent trips to the "settlement" during the close season for deer. He is a magnificent big fellow and has frequently been seen by hunters from Gettysburg and this county but has rarely been caught with in effective rifle range.

A correspondent tells of his latest visit to Glen Furney as follows:

"Long John," the seven pronged buck that cannot be found by the diligent hunters during the open season for deer, left his abode on the mountain yesterday and executed some funny stunts to the delight of many persons at Glen Furney.

He was first seen coming from the director of Burns looking as noble as ever, with his massive antlers thrown back. His first offense against the trespass law was to jump the fence and make himself at home in Farmer Pentz' wheat field.

A bunch of small boys saw him and put up a yell. This caused him to bolt for the S. H. Brown farm. Here Jacob Brown's bull pup and another dog were at play. The buck's eyes fell upon the pair and after making several bounds in the air he made toward the dogs. The strange dog took to the woods and the bull pup made across the field at breakneck speed with the buck at his heels.

A short distance from the Brown house the buck gave up and walked carelessly back.

When last seen he was chewing forestry notices from trees posted on state land.

Camp Is Prospering: Washington Camp 453, POS of A of Ardentville, will have an oyster supper on the evening of January 11, 1910, to which a cordial invitation is extended to all its members and their wives or "lady friends." The camp is getting along well. It was instituted about the first of last July and has a membership of one hundred. The charter will be open till January 1, 1910. Applicants between the ages of 16 and 50 years can join before the charter closes for the sum of $1.50. After that date it will cost according to age from $3 to $10.

Long Continued Drought Broken: At last relief from the drought about which the farmers of Adams County have been complaining for weeks and months has come. Snow, sleet and rain in abundance have been soaking the earth, replenishing the streams and otherwise helping humanity.

Fields which have shown signs of a wheat crop for 1910 will now take on a new life and present some cause for hope. Wells which went dry during the past few weeks are expected to yield the necessary water in a few days. Streams which have been drying up have been replenished and all the ruralites together with the four people are happy.

Merchants Hold Monthly Meeting: At the regular monthly meeting of the Gettysburg Retail Merchants Association held Friday evening a number of matters of importance to Gettysburg's businessmen were transacted.

It was decided to rent room 203 in the First National Bank building for one year. The room has been used as a museum and was furnished by John A. Cox, who offered the use of furnishings to the association free of charge. His offer was gratefully accepted.

It was agreed that all grocery, dry goods and shoe stores close at 6 o'clock every evening except Saturday during the months of January and February. There was some opposition to this by a few of the merchants but they submitted to the majority. The matter of increasing the dues was discussed and it was decided to place the minimum dues at 25 cents per month.

John W. Brehm was admitted as a charter member of the as-

Today's Talk

GOD'S GREAT GIFT

One of the most inspiring brief books that have contributed to my happiness and peace, as have few others, was entitled "Peace of Mind," by Joshua Loth Liebman. I would call it a small classic. The author died a few years ago, but left this inspiring line: "On my head pour only the sweet waters of serenity. Give me the gift of the untroubled mind."

I have thought of this beautiful line time and again. It should be the heritage of us all, engraved upon the mind of every human being. If it could be, it would revolutionize the spiritual experience of everyone who would memorize and distribute it far and wide. What a gift from God is the "untroubled mind!" How it should influence us all in our daily lives!

Christ said: "Let not your heart be troubled." It's the petty, thoughtless things of life that disturb most. Remove them and what a burden is released from the mind. And what a joy then, bubbling from the heart!

I read Thoreau largely to keep his peace of mind, and to get before me his rule of life, or at least some of his striking lines, like that one of two words, "Simplify, simplify," he said. Great blessings are the heritage of us all. But these blessings need to be put to work also. We need helpful words of kindness, and generous praise. Encouragement and appreciation make better medicine than any you get from the doctor, no matter how great that man may be!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Last Half Hour."

Just Folks

HE LOVES HER
He loves her, so he says,
And yet sometimes I doubt it;
For, every little thing she does
He makes a fuss about it.
Impatient he's with her,
Cross are the words he uses;
He loves his wife, and yet
His wife he most abuses.

Poor little woman. Off
I've seen the teardrops start
When angry words that he had Used
Had cut her to the heart.
His pleasure now comes first;
Her comfort matters not.
She is his wife, and so must be Contented with her lot.

He loves her, so he says,
For her he'd quickly fight;
And once when she was ill
He nursed her day and night.
He would not wrong her faith,
And yet I'd like to know
Just what there is in love that Makes
Man treat woman so.

LETTERS FROM LADIES RAP AMBASSADOR

TODAY'S WOMEN

By DOROTHY ROE
AL Women's Editor

It seems American women take a dim view of the recent remarks of Abdol Hossein Hamzavi, Iranian ambassador to the United Nations, on the superior life of his sheltered and cherished countrywomen, who are protected from "all the unpleasant phases of life, such as voting."

"I am one of those working wives he finds so little deserving of his respect and admiration," writes an irate resident of Hamden, Conn. "It is true that the American woman is not shielded from the unpleasant things in life. She has, perhaps, lost her feminine right to be cherished and protected. Her 'unveiling' brought her face to face with the grim reality of life for herself and her family. She feels it a privilege to vote and pay her taxes from her earnings."

"A Nourishing Stew"
"It is true that as a nation we cannot point to our centuries of ancient culture nor hold ourselves the end product of a pure blood line. We are a people composed of every race, creed and color on the face of the earth and we haven't yet, it seems, come to that high degree of polish that would enable us to give the insult in the suave, European manner. But the ingredients in our national melting pot—a stew of such life-giving strength that the rest of the world sits in hopeful anticipation of the invitation to share."

Typical Reaction
The remarks of the lady from Connecticut are typical of feminine reaction from all sections of the country. Writes a San Francisco career woman:

"I work all day, come home and cook dinner for my husband and two teen-age daughters, entertain frequently and take an active part in community affairs, including politics. My husband and I always have something to talk about—and he still says I'm glamorous. I'd hate to have to sit at home and just be protected all day. Very dull, I'd call it."

A working grandmother in Chicago writes:
"Mr. Hamzavi evidently overlooks the fact that most American women work from necessity rather than choice. I've always felt it was better to provide my children with three meals a day and the benefits of a good education than to sit at home defending my feminine rights."

Makarios Elected Cyprus President

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Archbishop Makarios has been elected by a 2-to-1 vote to serve as first president of this East Mediterranean island when it becomes independent from Britain Feb. 19.

A tremendous ovation greeted the proclamation Monday night of the results of Sunday's balloting by the Greek Cypriot community. The Greek Orthodox archbishop, political leader of the fight for independence, won 114,501 votes to 71,753 for John Clerides, former mayor of Nicosia who accused the archbishop of wanting to be a dictator.

BUS FIRMS HAD LOSSES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Public transportation firms in Pennsylvania generally suffered declines in 1958 with only 99 of 213 showing a profit, the Department of Internal Affairs reports.

A report released by the department Monday compared 1958 with 1957. Figures were not yet available for 1959.

Net income for all bus companies dropped from $1,500,000 in 1957 to $580,000 last year, according to the survey. Wages and salaries decreased from $80,000,000 to $78,000,000. The number employed in the industry last year was 17,044 compared to the 17,767 working in 1957.

Areas listed as having the largest over-all losses for all companies combined were: Scranton-Wilkes-Barre $726,150; Altoona $80,282; Erie $61,428; Johnstown $51,268; Pittsburgh $45,950; and Allentown-Bethlehem $31,589.

Russ Newspapers Says Little Of Ike

MOSCOW (AP)—President Eisenhower's trip is receiving day-to-day coverage in Moscow's papers, but volume is small and nowhere near the space given to reports from New York on this week's convention of the American Communist party.

Both editorial and official comment on Eisenhower's three-continent mission are lacking.

Stories from Rome pointedly referred to the welcome given Eisenhower by Italy's Communist party. But none of the accounts has made any reference to the size of the crowds or tried to assess the warmth of their welcome.

Mail Goes Through With Horses, Skis, Toboggans, Boats And Even Dogsleds

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The mail will go through this Christmas as always, but in a few cases it will take horses, boats, toboggans, skis and even a dogsled to do it.

That's the way it still has to be done in some of the remote nooks and crannies of the 50 states. The Post Office conceded that today, perhaps a little proudly, after looking over the locomotion methods of some of its 10,000 star route carriers.

The star route carriers transport mail under private contract with the Post Office. Most of them use trucks, but sometimes they HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Doctors find little change in the critical condition of ailing Confederate veteran Walter Williams, 117.

"He's about the same," a family member reported Monday night after Williams' second visit of the day by his physician.

Williams, last surviving veteran of the Civil War, has been in critical condition for more than a week. He is suffering from pneumonia for the fourth time in six months.

Liz Taylor Returns To L. A. Recovered

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor arrived Monday by plane from New York, where she had been hospitalized since Thanksgiving Day with double pneumonia.

"I'm still a little weak but otherwise I feel all right," the actress said, looking pale, tired and thin. She was accompanied by her husband, singer Eddie Fisher, two miniature Yorkshire terriers and a Siamese cat.

Bullets Pulverize Mules 104-67; Frosh Defeated; Face John Hopkins Next

Coach Bob Hulton's Gettysburg Bullets put on one of their finest shooting exhibitions as they landed 40 of 67 field goal tries to wallop a big but ragged Muhlenberg team 104-67 Monday evening on the Eddie Plank gym floor before 1,100 fans in a Middle Atlantic Conference University Division contest.

The last time the Bullets rolled over the century mark was early last January when they defeated Johns Hopkins 102-65. Gettysburg will tangle with the Baltimoreans Thursday evening in a single game to wind up their pre-Christmas schedule. Ross Sachs, former Bullet ace and now coach of the Bluejays, watched Monday's game.

The topsoring combination of Ron Warner and Bob Parker, both sophomores, was once again the main factor in the Bullet win as they tallied 52 of the 104 points. Warner racked up 10 of 15 shots for 26 counters while Parker landed seven of 12 shots from the field and added 12 for 24 on the foul line for another 26 tallies. Bill Fitzkee snared nine rebounds to bring his season's totals to 61, best on the Bullet squad.

Dazzling Start
The host team lost little time in capturing the lead and never lost it throughout the contest. All of the starting group landed points to take a 10-0 lead before the Mules' George Gilliland scored a jump at the 12:41 mark. Joel Sarner and Ron Druckenmiller followed with two more two-pointers and Gilliland added a push shot, but the Bullets continued to roll up the score on George Burnett's drive, Ron Warner's fast break lay-up and Parker's push. At 10:03 Gettysburg led 18-9 and with 5:57 remaining in the half Hulton's men were out in front 24-11.

Before the end of the first 20 minutes of play Parker added three consecutive goals and three for three fouls while Fitzkee came through with a pair of rebounds to give Gettysburg a 45-24 half-time lead.

Muhlenberg tallied three points in the first eight minutes of the second half while Fitzkee, Warner and Parker continued their bombardment of shots to give their team a 61-31 advantage.

Midway through the second half Coach Hulton finished the game with his reserves who kept up the fast pace set by the front liners. Joe Berghold and Ron Druckenmiller paced the Mules' scoring attack with 12 points each while Herb Loeffler contributed 10.

The Bullets are now 2-5 on the season with a 2-2 record in MAC competition and the Mules are 3-2 for the year and 0-1 in league play.

Frosh Improved
Coach Howard Shoemaker's Bullet yearlings played a much improved brand of basketball but were unable to overcome a large lead set by the Muhlenberg frosh as the visitors took a 77-71 decision in the preliminary engagement. Midway through the first half the Mules had an 18-point advantage, but the Little Bullets fought back and Muhlenberg held a slim 41-38 half-time lead. Gettysburg managed to take the lead three times during the second half but eventually faded.

Ron Hoffman took high scoring honors for the visitors with 27 points while teammate Don Schoenly netted 16. Ted Koerner, Cheltenham, paced the Little Bullets with 25 counters while Dick Wetherhold landed 10.

LIONS READY FOR HOLIDAY CAGE TOURNEY

Five lettermen, headed by Captain Wally Colender and Mark DuMars, will provide the nucleus for Penn State's basketball team when it locks horns with Duquesne, Temple and Penn in the first annual Keystone Holiday Classic basketball tournament December 28-29 at the State Farm Show Arena, Harrisburg. The classic is sponsored by Zembo Temple for the benefit of handicapped and underprivileged children and other Temple charities and activities.

DuMars and Colender, a backcourt combination which Coach John Egli rates on a par with any in the east, were the offensive pacesetters last year as the Nittany Lions won 11 of 20 games. DuMars, named to the Associated Press All-Pennsylvania first team and to the United Press International's All-American honorable list, led all Lion scorers with 337 points and 16.8 average. Colender netted 323 points with a 16.1 average.

Other holdover lettermen slated to see action in the Keystone Holiday Classic are 6-5 Paul Sweetland, 6-5 Jon Musser and 6-0 Don Wilson, while nonletter holdovers include 5-11 Dick Diebert, 6-0 Larry Freedman, 5-10 Mel Ramey and 6-3 Red Eisele.

Egli will probably turn to some of his sophomores in an effort to have a well rounded team. Of the newcomers, 6-3 Gene Harris, 6-5 Jake Trueblood and 6-3 Joe Bradshaw are given the best chance of seeing service. These three, along with Colender and DuMars, could form State's starting team for the classic.

Reserved seat tickets are available by mail or in person at Keystone Zembo Temple Holiday Classic office, Zembo Temple, 3rd and Division Sts., Harrisburg.

FAIRFIELD HI DIVIDES PAIR

Fairfield High School's boys and girls divided a basketball doubleheader with St. Joseph's of Emmitsburg Monday at Fairfield, the boys triumphing 47-19 while the girls bowed 29-17.

A comparatively close game was broken wide open in the second half by the Fairfield boys when they outscored their opponents 24-4, blanking the Emmitsburg outfit in the last quarter.

Nine Fairfield players broke into the scoring column with Jimmy Ruth topping the outfit with 14. Henshaw and Williams each looped five for the losers.

The Fairfield girls trailed all the way in losing their opener. Yvonne Herring tabbed 15 points for Fairfield while D. Topper netted 16 for St. Joseph's.

The Fairfield boys, now 1-1, open their Adams-Franklin League schedule on Friday by meeting James Buchanan at Mercersburg.

Santa and the ICE KING

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Santa, Oonik and Keotuk are going to visit the Ice King to persuade him to put a stop to the continuous winter. Tweedle-knees, Santa's helper, has finally gotten into the spirit of the thing and agreed to build Oonik a new sled.

CHAPTER EIGHT
OONIK BUILDS AN IGLOO
The fairies built up the fire in the workshop. Sadly they threw doll beds and toy blocks, wooden soldiers and boxes of trucks into the flames. The room grew warm again and the fairies stopped shivering and sneezing and were able to smile.

But Oonik watched with tears in his eyes as the fabulous toys went up in flames.

"Don't worry," the fairies said, "We'll be able to make toys again when Santa destroys the miserable Ice King."

"He mustn't destroy the Ice King," corrected the Queen Fairy. "We want winter in the wintertime but we also want summer in the summertime. That's what Santa is to straighten out with the Ice King. Oh, it will be lovely to see a flower growing again!"

"Oonik!" growled Tweedle-knees. "Come here!"

The floppy-eared dwarf had taken apart seven toy wagons and rebuilt them into a long red sled with wagon sides for slats and steel wheel spokes curved into runners.

"How is that?" demanded Tweedle-knees.

"Beautiful!" exclaimed Oonik truthfully. "It looks also very fast."

"Any sled I make is fast," boasted Tweedle-knees. "The fairies have brought in the reindeer's harness. Hitch up your dog and you're ready to go. Oh, and here's something else you may need."

The gruff old dwarf handed Oonik an ice saw and a seal spear far finer than the ones he had lost on the frozen sea.

"Oh, thank you," said Oonik, surprised and pleased.

Santa came carrying a sack of food. "Mrs. Claus felt so much better when I told her my plans

With Santa's help, Oonik built a perfect igloo.

she got right out of bed and made doughnuts and cookies and gingerbread men — all for Oonik the Eskimo boy, she said."

Now Oonik had never in his life eaten cake or cookies but when he asked what they were Santa said, "Never mind. You'll soon find out. I have raw meat here also for Keotuk."

They packed the tools and food on the sled. Then Santa and Oonik climbed on and, while Tweedle-knees shouted a tearful goodbye, away they went.

Keotuk wore his little seal skin shoes and bounded joyfully over the snow. But the sled was large and the load heavy and soon Keotuk had to slow down. Again and again Santa and Oonik got off to walk but often they fell or got separated in the falling snow so finally they stayed on the sled and let Keotuk pull it as best he could.

The further they went the colder it became. This was good because it meant they were getting closer to the Ice King's domain. But finally, Keotuk could go no further and they had to stop.

The snow drifts were packed so hard it was impossible to burrow into them for protection while they slept and ate.

"I shall build an igloo!" exclaimed Oonik.

"I am afraid it would take too long," protested Santa.

"Oh, no," replied Oonik. "My father has taught me. I can build one in an hour. Watch!"

With his snow saw he cut out blocks of ice about the size of a small suitcase. With Santa's help, he placed the blocks in a circle about eight feet across, being careful to lean each block inward. The next two blocks he shaved down in such a way that when the second row of blocks went on it spiraled upward and inward.

Soon the spiral almost closed over Oonik's head. He decided to leave an opening there to let in light.

But now he was inside a house with no door. He dug his way out making a long tunnel under the wall.

Then he said to Santa, "Come on in!"

It was a very tight squeeze through the tunnel but Santa made it by pulling in his tummy and holding his breath. Then Oonik brought in Keotuk and pulled in the sled which was easy because the sled was long and narrow.

Now they were safe and warm and not even the Ice King could harm them.

Next: An Unwelcome Visitor

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP)—Some 800 children woke up to find their Christmas vacation already started Monday after the S. D. Lee Junior High School was destroyed by a roaring fire before dawn.

Fire Chief O. B. Spruill said an unidentified woman who reported the fire said she heard an explosion just before the flames leaped up.

School Supt. C. N. Brandon said students would go on Christmas holidays starting immediately.

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP)—An admiral has written 5,000 personal letters to the parents and wives of service personnel asking them to stress safe driving in their next letters to their relatives who will be taking holiday leave.

The letters were written by Rear Adm. Allen Smith Jr., chief of Naval Air Reserve training, and mailed throughout the United States from the 18 stations under his command.

SMITH, KENT WILL LIKELY BE BACKED BY GOP

HARRISBURG (AP)—Organization endorsement appeared today for Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith and State Treasurer Robert F. Kent for the Republican nominations to succeed each other.

George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, came out immediately for the newly announced candidacies of the Commonwealth's two major fiscal officers. Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin), Senate president pro tempore, also expressed his support for them.

Smith and Kent announced their aspirations publicly at the Pennsylvania Society dinner in New York over the weekend. They were the first statewide candidates—either Republican or Democrat—to enter the race.

Favors Exchange
They are barred by law from second consecutive terms. Noting this, Bloom said:

"I have always been in accord with the tradition of the two fiscal officers exchanging offices after their first terms. Of course, I'm for Smith and Kent to continue this tradition."

The New York affair, a long-time sounding board for Pennsylvania GOP politics, attracted more than 1,100 John A. Diemand, Philadelphia, president of the Insurance Company of North America, received the society's gold medal for distinguished achievement in public life.

Most Back Nixon

But the gathering produced little in the way of solid information on whether Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York is gaining any support in Pennsylvania for the Republican presidential nomination.

Most state GOP leaders seemed to be backing Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Former U. S. Sen. Edward Martin, who is backing Nixon, said he planned to fight for the honor of heading Pennsylvania's GOP delegation at the 1960 presidential convention at Chicago next July. His successor in the Senate, Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), reportedly is seeking the delegation chairmanship.

Gov. Lawrence, one of the few Democrats invited to the dinner, used the occasion to express frustration at the length of the current legislative session.

"I have tried in every action and in every word, to demonstrate my belief that Pennsylvania's future cannot be secured by a state government guided by a philosophy of politics-as-usual," he told the society.

TWINING'S REMARKS ARE HIT BY FRANCE

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP)—France called "excessive and dramatic" Monday critical remarks made about this country last week by Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Twining deplored delay by most West European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in accepting U.S. atomic weapons and stockpiles and in integrating air forces into one air defense structure. He made it clear the United States feels France is the chief offender.

Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville expressed the French position on the Twining view to U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. French sources said Couve de Murville "expressed his extreme surprise at the revelation for 50 years."

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Charles H. Balsley, 89, listed in "Who's Who in Pennsylvania" as the first man to show motion pictures in California, died Saturday after a long illness. He is credited with showing movies in San Francisco in 1896. In later years he was a newspaper photographer.

tions by the American press of remarks made in the military committee, whose debates are, in principle, secret."

"Out of Proportion"
Couve de Murville also said Twining's remarks were of an "excessive and dramatic character," that the manner in which the problems were presented was out of proportion to the importance of the problems themselves.

Herter called on Couve de Murville at the start of nine days of concentrated Western talks aimed at shoring up NATO and preparing a summit-level meeting with the Soviet Union.

Herter had appointments with Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary-general of NATO; Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme Allied commander in Europe; and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Other top ministers from NATO countries were arriving in Paris for the ministerial meeting which opens Tuesday. Most of them were engaged in private talks with their counterparts from other countries. Out of these preliminary talks will come the line to be followed in the NATO meetings.

Sheriff's deputies said Harvill, 32, of Phoenix, Ariz., was an ex-felon in possession of a firearm—prohibited by law. Authorities said he once was convicted of armed robbery.

Harvill posted bail and made it on time to the hotel-sponsored competition Sunday. But the Arizona, competing with a borrowed gun, didn't place.

Riding With Russell

One hospital doctor says the more patient drivers the fewer driver patients.

Dipping into the past for discarded ideas in design looms upon the automotive horizon as one of the most promising ways to accelerate safety apace. By making it possible for certain essential units to continue operating, even when damaged, drivers are beginning to enjoy once again a type of safety "reserve" they once knew in limited form.

Taking a leaf from one of the cars which carried a mechanical braking system to pinch hit for a failing hydraulic system one of the automotive suppliers now offers a system which provides sufficient braking to stop the car even if one of the hydraulic lines breaks. In current design, the whole system becomes inoperative if one of the lines fails.

Already being used is the double drive belt for the fan and generator. Applied to the power steering pump this would rule out the need for having steering go back to fully manual operation should a belt break.

More power to those who are working with dual equipment. It makes safety sense.

How They Loosen Up

How car parts loosen up without their holding nuts not actually backing on their threads is one of the most interesting chapters in service. Simple, yet easily overlooked, is the breakdown of paint which, when new, acts somewhat like a lockwasher. Scale and rust will encourage looseness when they break down or fall away from the affected parts. Then there is what engineers call bolt stretching. Another factor in looseness is known as surface wear.

Recently when driving in a light rain I got to wondering why I did not slow down the windshield wipers instead of letting them operate at a speed quite unnecessary for the amount of water to be cleared off the glass. Checking wiper speed would save a lot of unnecessary wear on the rubber blades, and it greatly lessens the risk of marking the glass.

Mechanic Joe Speaking: "Drivers who have always handled cars with automatic transmissions are sometimes of the opinion that there is excessive slippage in the fluid coupling when the truth is they are just not feeding enough gas to enable the engine to build up power for the take-off. Somehow the present conveniences in driving have blinded many to the fact that a gasoline engine is powerless until it has speed. When clutches were the rule of the day the driver was greeted with a stall unless he accelerated the engine while letting the pedal up."

"That lag in getting away with an automatic transmission may be due entirely to failure to accelerate the engine sufficiently. No need for a jack-rabbit start, but neither is there need for economy in lagging."

Having Their Troubles

Q. Is it true that the battery's solution level should be lower in winter? R. J. Jr.

A. Yes. The solution is then a little stronger, giving the battery more energy for faster cranking.

Q. How often should front wheel bearings be greased? L. N. N.

A. The usual rule is once every 10,000 miles but many mechanics see an advantage in checking the bearings twice a year. In this way bearing trouble can be caught in the making.

Q. I notice that the windshield of my car is starting to be wipers swing over them. I have changed the blades. They do not press too heavily against the glass. T. S.

A. Possibly you forget to switch off the wipers when coming in from the rain at night. Thus the blades start sweeping over a dry and usually dirty surface of the glass when you start the motor the next day. Also use the wipers at slower speed.

Q. What do you mean by the term "flashover"? F. F. W.

A. This refers to escape of high tension current across the top of the coil, the distributor cap or between spark plug wires. It can usually be prevented by keeping these parts clean so that they do not hold moisture from condensation.

Q. I have been told that the automatic transmission on my car makes it impossible to start the engine by pushing or towing. I had always thought that cars with automatic drives could be cranked by getting the car rolling up to 25-mph and then moving the selector lever to "Drive." P. M. D.

A. That is true for most automatics. On your car the transmission was simplified. This prevents pushing starting of the engine.

Q. Should oil be put on the battery terminals and posts to prevent corrosion? B. H.

A. Yes, after they have been cleaned with ammonia or soda solution. Connect the leads to the posts before putting on the oil or vaseline because you do not want to lessen the efficiency of the contacting parts.

Q. Recently I have been troubled with engine stalling. Indications are that the needle valve hangs up because of a little dirt in the gas. Wm. L. P.

A. Your diagnosis probably is correct. You may be driving with the gas tank level too low.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—One way to find time for other things is to stop guessing about the 1960 elections and the presidential candidates until 1960 is half over.

There are too many unpredictable factors between now and next summer when the political parties open their conventions. For instance: in what Congress does and in what happens in foreign affairs.

Democrats and Republicans in their 1956 campaign platform pumped out promises far more elaborate than their performance. Three years later neither party is in position to much boasting.

Pressure On Both

Both parties, therefore, will be under political compulsion to build up a record they can cite to the voters in 1960.

The Republicans, because President Eisenhower is in charge of foreign affairs, have an advantage in that field—if the performance is good.

The Democrats, since they have a majority in Congress, might seem to have an advantage there for claiming things accomplished. But not quite.

Eisenhower will be in a position to dilute any claims they make if he dominates Congress, as he did this year, and proposes programs which have voter appeal and are acted upon.

GOP To Take Credit

Possibly the 1960 elections will be more influenced by what happens in the foreign than in the domestic field. Eisenhower has a busy schedule next year in foreign affairs.

Right now, as a result of his meeting with Premier Nikita

Q. Why do the modern engines have a smaller oil supply? F. V.

A. Most of them are V-8's with a small sump (the correct name for that area of the crankcase which holds the supply). Oil circulates to all engine parts speedily and is filtered. A smaller quantity of oil reaches efficient operating temperature more quickly. There are other reasons for the smaller supply, of course.

Exonerated Sought In Gulf Capsizing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Initial court action is on file in the capsizing of the motor vessel National Pride, which claimed the lives of 10 crewmen and an Army instructor.

Sperlo Corp., operators, and the National Boat Corp., owners, Monday filed a petition in U. S. District Court seeking exoneration from or limitation of liability.

The Coast Guard discovered the 196-ton vessel floating upside down in the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 27. The bodies of only two crewmen were found when the ship was towed to Galveston and uprighted.

State GOP To Study Libraries, Farming

HARRISBURG (AP)—Senate Republicans have ordered studies on ways of improving libraries and the marketing of farm products.

Resolutions directing the Joint

Khrushchev, there is a little less frugality in relations with the Soviet Union. Next spring he has a summit meeting with the Soviet leader.

If there is any real achievement there, the Republicans will take credit.

In Congress, which comes back to work in January and will try to finish before the conventions, Democrats and Republicans are pretty much agreed on acting in at least a couple of fields which have political importance.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, are agreed on bringing up a civil rights bill around mid-February.

Dirksen and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Senate Democratic leader, both have said Congress is likely to pass a general farm bill.

See Democratic Peril

Johnson, considered a conservative by northern Democratic liberals, may endear himself to them a little more if the civil rights bill has any meaning at all.

It also is possible that the Democratic party—through the anger of Southern Democrats—will suffer as a result of a Southern fight against civil rights.

If it's much of a fight, it may carry over into the Democratic convention, where the last thing the party wants is a split.

The farm bill has a special significance of its own, since the Democrats have been banging away at the Eisenhower farm program for years and the Republicans in 1960 are anxious for the farm vote.

WOULD ASK FEDERAL AID ON TUNNELS

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission will seek federal aid if it decides on new tunnel construction.

The proposed action was disclosed by Chairman Joseph J.

State Government Commission to make the studies were adopted Monday despite Democratic claims that they were not needed.

Sen. Charles R. Weiner, Democratic floor leader, said both subjects were covered by recent reports to Gov. Lawrence.

Lawler Monday after the commission met for two hours with a special Senate committee probing recurring traffic tie-ups at turnpike tunnels.

"We feel that if any work of this kind is decided upon, the federal government should reimburse us since the turnpike is on the interstate system," said Lawler.

Are Authorized

He said a provision of the Interstate Highway Act authorizes reimbursements to the states for new construction along roads in the federal network.

But a spokesman for the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads at Harrisburg cast some doubt on whether the commission could qualify for reimbursement.

"This is a matter that is still up in the air—whether turnpikes can be reimbursed without giving up their status as toll highways," the spokesman said.

Await Clear Picture

Commenting on the tunnel situation, Lawler said:

"We have an obligation to our bondholders and it is impossible to decide anything until we have a clear picture of what is needed and how to pay for it. We've been on top of this situation for some time here."

The commission last August hired Michael Baker Inc., Rochester, Pa., its consultant engineer, to examine the problem and recommend ways to deal with it.

Two-Lane Tunnels

Michael Baker Jr., president, said the report would be submitted to the commission early next week. It will deal with the engineering and financial aspects of the situation, he added.

All seven turnpike tunnels have only two lanes apiece to accommodate four-lane traffic from the cross-state road.

Most of the traffic tie-ups have occurred on the western end—the road's busiest section—but there were some bottlenecks during the summer at the Lehigh Tunnel on the northeast extension.

The Baker firm will consider the feasibility of boring new tunnels as compared with building roads around or over the mountains.

McKENNA, VMI SIGN

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—John McKenna, reportedly sought by Villanova as head football coach, Monday signed a new four-year contract to continue in the same capacity at Virginia Military Institute.

McKenna had one more year to go on a three-year pact. Salary terms were not disclosed.

POLITICS IN APPOINTMENTS IS ALLEGED

HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate Republicans today claimed Gov. Lawrence's appointments to the State Tax Equalization Board were political.

Sen. Robert D. Fleming (Allegheny), Senate GOP caucus chairman, predicted the appointments would be soundly rejected by the Republican majority. Faced by this threat, there was a possibility the governor may withdraw their names.

The ire of the GOP was aimed at Chairman John Bevec, of Strabane, Washington County; Herbert J. McGlinchey, both board holdovers, and Mayor Raymond E. Gardlock of New Kensington.

Politics In Report

The governor submitted all three names to the Senate a month ago for four-year terms. Gardlock was named to replace Frank K. Cochran, Greensburg Democrat.

The terms of Bevec, McGlinchey and Cochran expired Nov. 14. They are continuing in office until accepted or succeeded by someone else. Bevec receives $12,000 a year; the others $11,000.

Sen. Albert R. Pechan, assistant GOP floor leader, charged politics in the board's recent report on real estate market valuations, a key factor used calculating state aid to schools.

Effect Blunted

"School districts in 62 counties would have lost school subsidies if the board's report are accepted," Pechan said. "Something is wrong there. It's politics."

A new law provides that no school district will receive less in the 1960-61 school year than in the current school year. It blunted the effect of the board's report that would have cut state aid to some 2,000 out of 2,300 school districts.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr (D-Allegheny) defended the board's work. He said it operated under rules set up by the Legislature.

The Senate debated the matter 90 minutes Monday night. Democrats blocked a GOP move to bring up the names then.

Other Developments

Recess — Both the House and Senate geared their operations to wind up the 1959 Legislature Friday and then recess for the holidays until Jan. 4. The 1960 Legislature convenes Jan. 5.

Investigations — The Senate passed over, Democratic objections resolutions to study the library system in Pennsylvania and laws dealing with regulation of production, distribution and marketing of farm goods.

Democrats claimed the subjects already have undergone sufficient study and that the Legislature should pass laws now to correct any deficiencies in the two programs.

Local Roads Added

Session Limitations — The House Judiciary Committee approved a Senate-passed plan to limit annual sessions of the Legislature to three months. A four-month session would be allowed in the year a governor is inaugurated.

The unit revised the proposed constitutional amendment to provide that all legislative committees would function the year around but there was a question whether this provision would be accepted by the full House.

Highways — The House passed, 141-35, legislation to add 491 miles of local roads in 57 counties to

NEW POLICY IN FORCE NOW WITH CBS-TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — At the end of last week's Harry Belafonte show, a CBS announcer informed viewers the show had come to us live, except for five minutes which had been pre-recorded.

This is the sort of thing we will be hearing often, at least from CBS. Monday Vice President Joseph H. Ream, in charge of his network's "standards and practices," issued his first office communication on broadcast standards of entertainment programs, a major move toward the elimination of what might be called electronic deities.

To Tell Public

The memorandum specifically spells out procedures to be used in cases where film, tape and the state highway system. The figure is an all-time high and faces certain reduction in the Senate.

General State Authority — The Senate Appropriations Committee sent to the floor a House-approved measure to increase the 400-million-dollar borrowing limit of the General State Authority by 146 millions.

However, Senate Republicans plan to chop the figure by a series of floor amendments.

canned laughter are used.

Generally, when tape or film is used the audience will be told the program or portions of it were pre-recorded. When canned laughter is used, the phrase will be "audience reaction technically produced." When canned laughter is used to increase the sound of live audience reaction, the announcer will say, "This program was performed (or filmed or taped) before a live audience with audience reaction technically augmented."

"Participants on this program were selected in advance" means they were not chosen at random or interviewed spontaneously. The business of pre-recording a song which a performer can mouth while dancing (this is called lip-synch) will be explained by "the voice in the song (number or whatever) was previously recorded."

Cleanup Job

Ream's job, of course, is the elimination of such notorious practices as show-fixing, plug dropping, kickbacks and payola. At the moment, however, he is concentrating on cleaning up entertainment programs. Later he will turn to other areas.

"It's all very well to say 'drive carefully' to car drivers," explains Ream, "but that isn't going to do any good unless you also have some traffic rules, with penalties for disobeying them. Then, if you are caught doing 55 in a 20-mile-an-hour zone, you are violating something specific and there's no argument. We're working out the traffic rules for CBS."

Some cooks like to marinate cooked vegetables — carrots, snap beans, broccoli — and then add them to a bowl of crisp greens for an interesting salad.

NATO PONDERES FADING GROUP; FRANCE FAILS

By TOM OCHILTREE

PARIS (AP) — Foreign ministers of the 15 Atlantic Allies met today in a bright new headquarters to see ways of repairing the fraying fabric of Western unity.

It was plain that this time the problems, both diplomatic and military, were many and couldn't be ducked. Chief among them was the openly expressed feeling of the United States and other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that France is not doing its share.

After 10 years the alliance seemed to be in for heavy rethinking. Secretary-General Paul

2 HUNTERS ARE KILLED, 2 HURT ON FIRST DAY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two hunters were killed, two injured and another reported missing Monday as the three-day doe hunting season opened in Pennsylvania.

John T. Werkheiser, 53, of Pocomo Lake, was fatally wounded in the head while hunting near Lake Tamaqua, Monroe County. Werkheiser was to be sworn in as tax collector of Tobyhanna Township next month.

His death is being investigated by police and game commissioner Roland Heffelfinger.

Accidental Death

In Wayne County, Peter Fidatti, 22, of Jessup, a star halfback for the University of Scranton football team, was accidentally killed when struck by a bullet fired by a companion.

Robert Elby, 19, of Elizabethtown R. 3, was reported in critical condition at Geisinger Hospital, Danville, after he was accidentally shot in the leg by a companion on Bald Mountain, south of Danville.

Walter Smith, 27, Meshoppen R. 2, was accidentally shot in the leg by his 13-year-old nephew. The accident occurred in Nicholson Township, Wyoming County. Smith was listed in fair condition in Tyler Memorial Hospital, Meshoppen.

Hunt For Hunter

State police and an Army rescue squad from the Tobyhanna Signal Depot meanwhile, are searching for an 18-year-old Philadelphia hunter reported missing in Wayne County.

Robert Long was last seen at 2 p.m. Monday in the vicinity of Sampson Swamp, between Tobyhanna State Park and the Wayne County line.

Long and six others from Philadelphia were staying at a nearby camp in Wayne County. Below freezing temperatures were forecast for that area.

ROCKEFELLER MAKES MAJOR FARM SPEECH

EDITOR'S NOTE: Pulitzer Prize-winner Reiman Morin is accompanying Gov. Rockefeller on his current visit to the Middle West, Southwest and South.

By RELMAN MORIN
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller headed into Wisconsin today after urging, in a major speech on farm policy, that 60 million acres of land be taken out of agricultural cultivation.

"The chief problem of the low-income farmers," he said, "is poverty."

Rockefeller is making a swing through the Middle West. He says the purpose is to "register impressions" which will help him decide whether to try for the Republican nomination for president in 1960. In the first three days of the trip, he visited Indiana, Missouri, and Minnesota—in all of which Vice President Richard M. Nixon is considered to have the support of most Republican leaders for the nomination.

Four-Point Plan
The governor chose Minneapolis as the spot to deliver his views on the way to solve the farm problem.

"The farmers are dissatisfied," he said. "The taxpayers are up in arms. And we have bigger surpluses hanging over the market than ever before. I think the time has come to take a fresh look."

He outlined a four-point program:

1. Long-term rental of farms by the federal government.
2. "Stabilization supports based on production costs and net income factors under modern agricultural conditions."

3. "Vigorous" market development for farm products.

4. A job-opportunity program "for farmers who want to shift to other activities."

He divided the farm population into three groups and devoted most of his speech to two, whom he called "commercial farmers," and "low income farmers."

The first group, he said, is composed of 2.1 million families who produce 90 per cent of the marketed crops. The second numbers 1.2 million families who produce less than 10 per cent of the total crops.

"Trying to help both (groups) with a single approach based on price supports has not solved the problem for either group," he said. "The recent compromises between high, fixed supports and more flexible supports has not solved the problem, either."

Rockefeller said another 1.5 million families are rural residents or part-time farmers.

He did not go into detail on what he would consider the proper and most efficient "stabilization supports."

On his major point, federal land rental, he said "I recommend that as a start we double these land rental programs by putting at least 60 million acres of our farm land to such uses as reforestation and conservation."

MAPLEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Oliver E. Buckley, 72, former president and chairman of the board of Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., died Monday of pneumonia. He had suffered from Parkinson's disease for some years. Buckley, known as an outstanding scientist and administrator of industrial research, retired in 1952. He was born in Sloan, Iowa.

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — R. T. Elstad, 64, president of U.S. Steel's Big Oliver iron ore mining operations in northern Minnesota for 13 years, died Monday after a long illness. Elstad joined the Oliver Division 40 years ago as a mining engineer. He was born in Independence, Wis.

Pope Prior To Consistory

Pope John XXIII sits on throne in Vatican City before opening secret consistory at which he created eight new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church. Standing at the pontiff's left is Msgr.
